The Concentrations

In addition to obtaining a breadth of knowledge in the liberal arts and sciences or biological and physical sciences through courses in the honors core, each student chooses an area of concentration. The purpose of the concentration is to allow students to obtain deep knowledge of a focused area of interest. Students may have more than one major concentration or a major concentration and one or more minors. In addition to fulfilling the requirements for the concentration, each student will complete a thesis or senior project. Students in the Wilkes Honors College have the opportunity to concentrate in most of the traditional disciplines and to design their own interdisciplinary course of study in consultation with the faculty. The Honors College offers different sets of concentrations based on the major and degree chosen. Details about concentration requirements and listings of course offerings and concentrations can be found here.
